PRAEFATIO.

Lexici Syriaci ante haec sex lustra conditi editio quae nunc prodit altera omnino fere nova appellari potest. Libros in priore editione adornanda adhibitos omnes iterum, plerosque, bibliorum inprimis versiones, iterum iterumque perlustravi omnesque, quos abhinc e prelis exisse mihi quidem innotuit et adire licuit, in usum meum converti; nonnullos, dum bellum geritur, apud exteros impressos, cum priores fasciculi imprimi coepti essent, ne Berolini quidem in reipublicae bibliothecam receptos, inspicere nondum potueram; his postea excussis quae inveneram in addenda relegavi. Quibus impressis Payne Smithii thesauri supplementum, ab auctoris filia congestum, lucem vidit, quo in addendis novissimis mihi utendum erat; de nonnullis, quas hic non inveneris, vocibus vel dubiis vel corruptis, vide sis, quae in ephemeridibus semiticis (ZS) propediem in vol. VI disputabo.

Leges priori editioni praescriptas et a judicibus rei peritis comprobatas adhuc sequi pro viribus studui. Inserviendum est et linguam ediscentibus et linguae peritis, qui aut libris syriacis legendis aut linguae legibus et fortunis enucleandis operam dant.

Colligendae igitur et explicandae erant voces omnes et aramaeae et peregrinae, quas auctoribus syris bonae et inferioris aetatis usitatas inveneram. Excludenda erant nomina propria, onomasticis et prosopographiis reservanda, vocabula peregrina pro alienae linguae speciminibus in libris syriacis laudata vel technicis serioris aetatis, ut in appendicibus libri Medicinae, usitata, monstra illa pseudoaramaea, ab auctoribus nonnullis infimae aetatis, ut Hormizdae vitae a Budge editae, lexica depilantibus ficta, graecohebraica a LXX versionis syriacae auctoribus literis syriacis transscripta, graeca a lexicographis tantum tradita, quae unde in lexica immigraverint, Henricus Pognon Hippocratis Aphorismorum versionis syriacae editioni praefatus rationem mihi quidem veri haud dissimilem proposuisse videtur. Nonnulla vocabula corrupta emendavi, sed omnes scribarum, editorum, typothetarum errores congerere meum non erat.

Lexico syriaco neque dialectos neosyriacas neque aramaeam a christianis Palaestinensibus usitatam Payne Smithii exemplum secutum me inseruisse, ne quis cum censore quodam miretur; quid philologi latini de lexico latino osca et umbra, romanistae de lexico linguae Franciae idiomata Provinciae et neogallica admiscente judicarent?

Voces peregrinae ad origines referendae erant. Quae vocabula Aramaei a Babyloniis et Assyriis mutuo acceperint, P. Jensen iteratis curis exponens etymologiarum auctores ut indicaret, adjuvante H. Zimmern operam dedit; quod quin legentibus jucundissimum fecerit, nullus dubito; monet autem, ne quis ipsius sententiam se invenisse sibi videatur, nisi ipse nomen suum adscripserit; si quae alias errata tibi visa erunt, me in judicium voces.

Nunc et vocum aramaearum origines semiticas indicandas, quod in priore editione nisi in homophonis neglexeram, censui. Quid hac in re Francisco Buhl iisque, qui in Gesenii lexico hebraico expoliendo eum adjuverint, inprimis H. Zimmern debeatur, nemo est, qui nesciat. Vocabula omnibus Semitis communia signo SEM distinxi, omissis formis cum syracis congruentibus, iis, quae ex aramaeae dialecti legibus ceteris distant, formas arabicas adscripsi; singulis tantum dialectis servata testibus probare studui. Voces dialectis aramaeis omnibus vel plurimis vel et in Babylonia Mandaeis seu Judaeis et in Palaestina usitatis siglo notavi AR. Quantum absit, ut dialectorum aramaearum lexicon, quod dicunt, comparativum, scribere jam nunc possimus, rei peritum neminem fugit; tamen ne cui tale quid in hoc libro quaerere in mentem veniat, monere supervacaneum non videtur.

Vocabula disposui ex ordine radicalium, quarum in peregrinis vicibus ternae priores literae consonantes funguntur.

Vocales dedi, quas poteram, optimis testibus mihi paratis nixus, inprimis Bibliorum editionibus Urmiensi et Neoeboracensi atque grammaticorum praeceptis; codices masorethicos Londinienses et Vaticanos ne adirem, quod olim speraveram, bellum impedivit. Imprimendi difficultas unaque libri pretium ne nimis augerentur, puncta Quaššājae et Rukkāchae, nisi dubia essent, omisi.

Vocabula quid sentiant, ut comprobem, quibus hebraeis et graecis vertendis inserviant, plerumque adscripsi; sed concordantiis, quas dicunt, Bibliorum syriacorum, praeter Rosenwasseri in reges, Techenii in psalmos, Smendii in Siracidem indices, etiam nunc nos carere, et O. Kleinii et nuper W. Jenningsii in N. T. curas ne evangeliis quidem satisfecisse, ne quis obliviscatur. Vocabulorum, quae in Bibliis non inveneris, formas saepe non satis constare, inprimis inter Pa. et Af. discrimen non semper certum esse, tirones monendi sunt. Rei botanicae omnino rudi in iis mihi acquiescendum erat, quae I. Löw in libro Die aramaeischen Pflanzennamen nuperque in Die Flora der Juden asseruit, quo libro in primis fasciculis uti nondum potueram. Significationes quo ordine exponendae sint, linguarum cognatarum ratione habita discernere pro viribus studens primariis, quas dicunt, investigandis vel potius fingendis adhuc abstinui.

Lingua etiam nunc usus sum latina, ne nostratibus solum libri aditus pateret, invitus equidem, cum vernaculo sermone multa et facilius et lucidius exprimi potuissent.

Quibus auctoribus singula vocabula usitata invenissem, exemplis probare adhuc inutile non videbatur; testes adhibui quam veterrimos, additis inferioris aetatis, ut fata vocum, quantum possent, delinearentur. Quibus verbis singuli auctores usi sint, cum nemo adhuc disseruerit, praeter Mobergii de grammaticis lucubrationes diligentissimas, quibus grato animo usus sum, et paucissima Patrologiis Orientali et Syriacae inserta, propria lectione ubique mihi nitendum erat, neve quis se in hoc libro historiam vocabulorum ut in Grimmii lexico germanico seu in Thesauro latino inventurum esse exspectet; de tenella philologiae syriacae aetate quae Paulus de Lagarde quondam enuntiaverit, adhuc valere rei peritum neminem fugit. Quae in numeris locorum probantium adhuc errata hic illic inveneris, lectori benevolo excusata esse velim; nam corrigenti mihi plagulas non omnes, ut par erat, libri syriaci semper praesto fuerunt, praesertim postquam Halis, a sede bibliothecae societatis orientalis germanicae, vana successionis E. i Sachau specie allectus Berolinum migravi, promisso mihi in capite reipublicae literas semiticas tradendi non modo veniam fore sed etiam facultatem et subsidia, qua spe mox dejectus, cum illam provinciam necopinatu alter quidam suam sibi occupatam teneret, atque huc redire coactus sum, ubi primam libri editionem difficultatibus undique obsessus absolveram et nunc eadem penuria librorum premor gravissima; quae vix tolerari posset, nisi W. Printz, bibliothecae societatis praefectus, qua est humanitate, exsulem libris adjuvare non desisteret. Sed hac de re judicaturi ne novissima linguae hebraicae lexica post tot saeculorum studia ejusmodi erroribus omnino esse libera secum quaeso reputent.

Indicem latinum, ne nimis augeretur, ita confeci, ut inprimis verba activa colligerem, passiva et nomina a verbis derivata omitterem; itaque, si quis e. g. quae voces syriacae „cingulum“ significent, comperire velit, s. v. „cinxit“ quaerat.

Restat ut gratias agam quam maximas viris doctis, qui in hac editione adornanda, quae in priore et in singulis hujus fasciculis vel omissa vel minus bene explicata invenerant, literis me edocentes benigne adjuverunt, apud nostrates W. Frankenberg et Fr. Schulthess, quem praematura morte literis abreptum dolemus, apud Batavos A. J. Wensinck, apud Anglos E. W. Brooks et N. MacLean, qui et A. i Bevan et F. i Burkitt observationes nonnullas mihi tradidit; quid singulis debeatur, literis nominum initialibus suo loco insignita invenies. Gratiae non minores habendae sunt bibliopolae honestissimo M. Niemeyer, qui, dum patria profligata jacet, non lucri spe sed literas promovendi studio nobili adductus libri imprimendi sumptus vaesane grandes in se suscipere haud cunctatus nemine adjuvante opus ad bonum finem perduxit.
